What's New in the SurveillizCam?

Overview SurveillizCam enables you to take advantage of your computer and capture devices to build an effective home, workplace and even personal surveillance system. It automatically recognizes motion, detects sound and locates a person/thing in a digital video stream in real-time and reports the results to you via the Internet. It does this all without you even thinking about it! SurveillizCam allows you to detect motion in the home or office and capture video instantly. You can also take snapshots or review the video streams on your PC or play them on an attached USB hard disk drive. The results are presented to you graphically via your Internet browser so you can see results on your Windows desktop, like you would in a computerized surveillance system. Through several well-designed network capabilities, SurveillizCam can be used with your surveillance cameras to create a complete home or office surveillance system. Cameras can be wired directly to a computer with a standard Internet connection. Or you can use a wireless surveillance system. Surveillance video can be transmitted to an outside location, such as a laptop or mobile phone, for review in real-time. Or you can use the SurveillizCam-specific software, SpyEverywhere, to monitor from any Windows PC no matter where the PC is located. SurveillizCam supports all software and capture hardware products currently on the market. It is designed with computer hardware and software in mind to provide maximum performance and robustness. SurveillizCam has been tested extensively to ensure smooth operation and is fully compatible with Microsoft® Windows® operating systems. SurveillizCam makes use of several tools to ensure that the system is stable and reliable. In fact, it outperforms other basic motion detection programs because it is based on advanced signal processing, pattern matching and clustering technology that are more complex than other programs. SurveillizCam is able to detect and analyze moving objects and determine where they are in the video stream. This important feature means you are never waiting for your camera to click and you can quickly see what is going on around you. SurveillizCam is included with 2 SURVEILLIZBEE application programs. SpyEverywhere displays an area on your Windows desktop as an area of interest where you can view or edit your captured video streams from the SURVEILLIZBEE software. You can also use SpyCenter to monitor the live video feeds from the SURVEILLIZBEE software. SpyCenter displays
