It’s always been a tough subject to go in to without treading on conventional wisdom. But as I look at what’s happening in the region, it’s obvious that times have changed. And that’s good. I’ll try not to get into too much old ground, so here’s my five to nine point take on the situation. It begins from a fairly basic foundation. 1. The core conflict is between Sunni and Shiite, but the worst off is al-Qaeda. They have far more terrorism on their side than the U.S. They are fighting a war in which they have no chance of winning. Al-Qaeda’s level of violence is still high, but we have the advantage of fighting a military stalemate. And we know that al-Qaeda will keep fighting because they are a terrorist organization, and we no
