What's New in the?

Doomsday Engine is a software installer that helps users run the classic PC action games without having to boot their PC in DOS mode. The app supports all PC based DOOM, Heretic, Hexen and other titles and comes with a nice and intuitive interface. It also includes a wonderful set of configuration options that lets users alter settings such as the resolution and the color scheme, but also enables users to enjoy multiplayer support, on top of that. Doomsday Engine Review: The Setup WizardFriday, April 5, 2009 Swap Me! (Spring 2009) Surprise! I swappied! I've been so pleased with my blog that I decided to join in the fun. I'm now swapping with the wonderful Kay. She recently turned a 75th birthday party into a surprise birthday party with 36 birthday cakes. These cakes were delicious! I was honored to be asked to participate in her swap. I was sure she would send me a box full of delicious goodies, but it was actually a package full of lovely cards and treats! A great party in the great state of NJ. She also made a super gift for me. Do I dare spoil what I'm so sure is a masterpiece? Maybe! It's a hand-written story about the meaning of life. Hope you enjoy it as much as I do! The Story of the Ballerina Once upon a time a young girl trained in the art of dancing. Her name was The Ballerina. One day she went to the ballet and took ballet classes. She was practicing the steps one day when she noticed something shiny. It was a big red ball. As she watched the ballet, the big red ball began to move. It rolled from hand to hand until finally it rolled right into the student's hand. The Ballerina wanted to keep the ball. She was a young girl. She knew that one of her greatest accomplishments in life would be to give the ball to a ballerina just like herself. The Ballerina knew that the ball would find the right person. She had no doubt that someone would take the red ball to a place where it would shine just for that person. The little girl went home and looked in her window. There was her red ball. She carefully brought it home and put it on her bedside table where she could watch it whenever she wanted to. Every day after school, the little girl went to the park to practice
